RPG Maker MV is a comprehensive game creation software for Windows. With this game, you can make any type of games, such as a turn-based game, a real-time strategy game, or a simulation game. This game is easy to create games for the wide variety of tilesets that come with it, and can be easy to adjust and edit if you have problems. With RPG Maker MV, you can make fun games that you can play with friends online, and are also able to sell your work. The level of difficulty can be adjusted by changing the speed of the game. Fun and easy-to-use game making software. ◆Release Schedule◆ ◆Release schedule◆ ■Tutorial Task This tutorial task is designed to help you learn the basics of the materials, as well as using the houseplant tileset. Please do not post any bugs that you find on this tutorial task, we won't be able to fix any bugs unless it is reported on the RPG Maker MV Beta Release Note. -----

----- ■ Limitation◆ ■ Limitation
for this item □ This software is only the decorative plant part. So please use any tutorial task that does not have the component. □ A texture cannot be shared with the tilesets that come with RPG Maker MV, because it requires a texture that is different. You can make any free-use map as a decoration, and even use in the OSK as a decorative plant, etc. □ Please note that the question mark (?) mark is not the symbol of the decorative plant. Using them is difficult because they are not a real plant. -----

----- ■ Please Note◆ □ In this software, the path is a grid, so it is not easy to move to the same tile or place. If you try to place the plant in a cell you have already placed, it is difficult to move and place it. This is because the default texture of the tileset is divided into tile sizes of 32x32x32. So your tile that is close to the plants on the bottom has been divided in half. However, the tile for the plant is divided by a single tile, and there is no overlap, so you can actually save time and have a straight path. However, because of the amount of work needed to do this, the map will take a lot of time.
